the senior class of 1967 has broken with tradition in dedicating the falcon to a cause, rather than an individual, this cause being the youth serving in vietnam. to us they symbolize our generation's acceptance of the responsibilities of preserving peace and establishing a secure, democratic world. this cause will become a reality to many in the near future, it is with great admiration that we honor these men.

The Senior play, "See How They Run," was about a case of mistaken identities. The fun began when a Russian spy escaped from the guardhouse, assaulted the vicar, and took his clothes. When five vicars appeared, the confusion really started. In the garb of the clergy there was the Russian spy, an American actor, the real vicar, the Bishop, and a visiting minister. The fun was completed with a puzzled sergeant, a cockney maid, a jealous spinster, and an American ex-actress.

football

During the past year the West Sioux Falcons surprised many fans and finished with a winning season. Two examples of outstanding team efforts were displayed in victories over Central Lyon and Maurice-Orange City in high-scoring contests. Foul weather could not dampen the spirits of the Falcons as they cruised to a Homecoming victory over Augustana Academy. The team also won impressive victories, crushing Sioux Center and Leeds, and picking up a come-from-behind victory over South Sioux. The Falcons, finishing third in the Sioux Empire Conference, dropped two narrow losses to Canton and Vermillion.
